LOS ANGELES (KABC) -- Two people have been arrested in connection to a house party shooting in the West Adams area that left three people dead and 12 others wounded, authorities from the Los Angeles Police Department said Sunday.

The suspects were identified as Mowayne McKay, 33, and Diego Reid, 25, both of whom are Jamaican nationals, police said.

The shooting happened at about 12:30 a.m. Saturday at what was described as a makeshift restaurant in a home in the 2900 block of Rimpau Boulevard.

According to the owner of the restaurant, there was a birthday party going on when an argument broke out between two groups, which led to the shooting.

Police said three men were found dead inside the home and at least 12 others, nine males and six females, were hospitalized. Police said one person remained in serious condition.

The suspects were arrested early morning Sunday and were expected to be booked for murder.
