

A 33-year-old woman has been charged with first-degree murder in the death of her husband.

Roxanne Sanchez-Jaime has also been charged with four counts of misdemeanor child abuse.

Sanchez-Jaime allegedly killed her husband, Jose Sanchez, 34 on Sept. 25, according to a news release by Lynn Kimbrough, spokeswoman for District Attorney Mitch Morrissey.

The shooting happened at 6:40 p.m. at 16156 E. Randolph Place while their four children were in the home, according to a Denver police report.

One of the children told Detective Jonathan Joyce that his mother and father were having a conversation when he saw his mother pull a gun from the back waistband of her pants.

He then saw his mother shoot his father several times. His father fell to the ground.

Following her arrest, Sanchez-Jaime allegedly told police, “Shot the mother-[expletive] in the head.”

---

RELATED ARTICLES

---

SEPTEMBER 26, 2016 Police arrest woman in northeast Denver killing of her children’s father

---

SEPTEMBER 27, 2016 Denver coroner ID’s man who police say was slain by mother of his kids

---

Sanchez-Jaime is being held in the Denver jail without bond. She is scheduled to appear in court Tuesday for advisement of charges.